

The Reason why We Need Diverse Books

A Webinar with

Nancy D. Tolson, PhD

Assistant Director of African American Studies
University of South Carolina

DATE: Thursday, November 16, 2018

TIME: 7:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. (Eastern Time)

LOCATION: WWW.SCCAAS.ORG

The webinar will be viewable in real-time.
Click on "SCCAAS Events" to register.

Nancy D. Tolson is the assistant director of the African American Studies Program at USC. Thanks to her parents, Nancy has had a strong interest in Black literature and culture all of her life. She has a Master's in African World Studies and a PhD in English Education from the University of Iowa where she studied African folklore and Black children's literature. Nancy has been a storyteller as long as she was able to talk. She has proudly been part of Augusta Baker's Dozen Storytelling Festival for the past three years. She is the author of Black Children's Literature Got de Blues: The Creativity of Black Writers and Illustrators and Tales of Africa. Her other critical and creative work can be found in various academic journals, books, and walls. Dr. Tolson and her husband have been successfully raised by their three children and are now being empowered by their five grandsons.

Website: www.sccaas.org Email: mycouncil@sccaas.org

SCCAAS

South Carolina Council For African American Studies

Guiding Excellence in Everyone's Education

